- 5.Green landscaping with trees and plants.

Greenery in institutional campus, including the presence of trees, plants, and green spaces, offers numerous benefits that enhance the environment and the well-being of the campus community. The presence of greenery on institutional campus contributes to a holistic and sustainable campus environment, enhancing the quality of life for students, staff, and the surrounding community. It supports physical and mental well-being, educational goals, and the broader environmental and sustainability initiatives of the institution.
